During your contact with Francesca Papi , you could be asked to provide us with information needed to continue our interaction using "free-form" fields (for sending forms, emails and other kinds of communication). In this specific case, you will be free to send us further information which will likewise be processed in accordance with the regulations in force regarding the protection of your privacy.

It is important to note that, in certain cases, should you fail to provide the information we request, we will be unable to offer some or all of our services.

How Francesca Papi stores your personal data and when it transfers them

All the data you provide during or through using the website www.fantasticflorence.com will be processed, subject to your express consent regarding the entire processing or one or more processing operations, by the data controller, the data processors (if designated by the data controller) and/or the persons placed in charge by the data controller and/or by the data processors.

Your sensitive data, should they be provided, may be subject to processing only with your written consent, in compliance with the conditions and limits set by the privacy code as well as by laws and regulations.

All the operations to be carried out on the data you provide will be conducted with the utmost care and will be adjusted to protect your confidentiality. The aims of the processing operations will be to collect, record, organize, store, reference, process, modify, select, extract, compare, use, associate, block, communicate, delete and destroy the data, as well as any combination of two or more of the aforementioned activities.

The data you provide us will be processed manually and/or automatically, on paper and/or digitally (with the aid of electronic instruments that we own and/or are provided by third parties). They will be kept using appropriate technical, computerized, organizational, logistical and procedural security measures that meet or exceed the minimum level of protection required in regards to the risks as per Article 31 of the Italian Privacy Code, and in all cases comply with any other regulation or provision applicable under the circumstances, for the sole purpose of reducing the risk of destroying or losing the data, even when accidental, the risk of unauthorized access, non-permitted processing or any other processing inconsistent with its aims.

We will only process those data that are strictly pertinent and complete and that do not exceed the aims connected to the services for which they have been collected or subsequently processed, and we will only store them in a form that enables you to be identified for a period of time no longer than necessary for the purposes for which they were collected or subsequently processed.

Over time, the security measures put into place by Francesca Papi may occasionally be adjusted in light of applicable regulations at that moment and the technical evolution of the industry and/or of technologies for storing and filing data.

The manager and/or data processor and the persons placed in charge, appointed by Francesca Papi, will be suitably trained, with special attention given to regulations and the adoption of minimum security measures, for the sole purpose of ensuring the data remains confidential and secure. Under no circumstances will the personal data be divulged to third parties without your prior consent.

The personal information you provide through the website www.fantasticflorence.com are sent to and could be stored on servers located both within and beyond the European Union.

We may communicate any personal information you provide through using the website www.fantasticflorence.com to other companies belonging to the Francesca Papi Group and/or to third parties which will be cited in the particular cases described below.

Possible communication of your data to third parties

All the data processing operations described in this privacy statement may require the information collected by Francesca Papi to be shared with our affiliate companies located in and beyond Italy, and with our partners, our suppliers (for example, banks, couriers, logistics companies), consultants, possible joint ventures and any future owner of the website or of our business, as part of the delivery of the services you require.

We may release your personal data to other companies in connection with any kind of possible or actual reorganization, merger, sale, transfer or other provisions regarding our business or part of it, its assets and its shares/stock.

We may also use the services of other companies or individuals to act and work on our behalf, such as, for example, providing services, sending correspondence, providing marketing assistance, analyzing data, providing customer support services, or for accounting, financial, sales, administrative/invoicing, legal or fiscal purposes, etc.

In order to be able to carry out the activities delegated to them, the aforementioned individuals or companies will be able to process your personal information as data processors appointed by us or as independent data controllers. We will only reveal to these companies or individuals such personal information as is strictly necessary for them to carry out their specific duties.

When specifically requested, we will be able to collaborate with any court, administrative authority, police authority, or other similar authority in any investigation or procedure that may concern you or is pertinent to your use of the website www.fantasticflorence.com.

This collaboration may involve communicating personal information that concerns you to the authorities by their express request.

Although our company adopts suitable measures for protecting the personal information or any sensitive data that you have provided or will provide us while using the website www.fantasticflorence.com, by definition no transmission via Internet can ever be guaranteed as absolutely secure.

Therefore, please bear in mind that it is not possible to ensure - and therefore we cannot ensure - the absolute security of any personal

Francesca Papi recommends reading the privacy statement for each website you visit.

Minors

When you communicate your personal data to us, we assume and you ensure us that you are not under the age of 18. Francesca Papi does not intend to collect any personal information on individuals below the age of 18. When necessary, we will specifically instruct underage users not to communicate their data through our websites and/or we will take reasonable measures to ensure that parents/guardians have control over the communication of such data.

Parents/guardians should be aware that our privacy statement and policy will regulate the use of personal data, but the information given voluntarily by minors - or by others - in comments or similar functions may be used by third parties to generate unrequested correspondence.

We suggest that all parents/guardians teach their children to use their personal data in a safe, responsible manner while using the Internet, monitoring them when necessary to the extent and using the methods that they deem appropriate.

In case of data breach

In case of data breach, Francesca Papi will communicate it to Data Protector Officer within 72 hours, if possible (art. 33 Regulation EU). If this violation implicates a high risk for the rights and the liberty of the person, Francesca Papi, in charge of the privacy treatment, will notify it to you.

Changes to our privacy statement

Considering that the current state of automatic control mechanisms cannot rule out errors and malfunctions, we reserve the right to make any changes we deem necessary, or changes that are made mandatory by law or other regulatory bodies, to this privacy statement without prior notification. We strongly advise checking this privacy statement consistently and periodically, as it will be assumed that you have accepted changes and updates if you continue to use the website once they have been published.
